"HELL DEVIL" SAYS
TIGERS WILL WIN

Predicts Both Teams Will Score.

DEFENSE STRENGTHENED

Coaches Much Pleased With Showing Made by Varsity Against Scrubs. Good End Runs.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 16.—"Hell Devil" says that Princeton will win the football game with Yale and that both teams will score.

It was "Hell Devil" Skillman who wrote to Captain John Dewitt two years ago on the Thursday preceding the game and foretold to him the exact score of the approaching game.

Dewitt had the letter framed, and it hangs in the trophy room. "Hell Devil's" reputation was made, and all the students now swear by his predictions. He also prophesied Princeton's defeat last year.

Today will be the last day of practice for the Tigers this season, and for the first time this week the gates will be opened and the undergraduates given a chance to see practice.

The team had a long preliminary drill yesterday afternoon, and then two ten-minute halves were played with the scrubs. The scrimmage was hard, and the varsity scored three touchdowns.

The main object of the practice was to test the defense of the first team, and the coaches said after the practice that the eleven had put up a fine defensive game, and that the scrubs had been able to make little headway against them.

Daub and Bard did some fine work in advancing the ball, and circled the scrubs for several long runs. On the whole, the practice was very satisfactory, and there seemed to be a more cheerful tone in the coaches' talk tonight.

The defense has strengthened up considerably in the three days of practice since the Cornell game, and the team is now in a much better condition to meet the battering attack of the Yale eleven.

The Princeton undergraduates were greatly relieved today when "Hell Devil" Skillman, the Princeton prophet, finally felt moved to prophesy on the outcome of next Saturday's game.

Western-Prep Contest Ended With Dispute

Blue and Gray Eleven Refused to Abide With Referee's Decision and After Waiting Required Time Western Quit Field.

With the score 5 to 0 in favor of Western and five minutes of the second-half remaining to be played yesterday's Western High School-Georgetown Prep game, at Georgetown Field, was abruptly ended by the Preps protest against the decision of the referee.

The shades of night were falling fast and it was so dark that it was impossible to discern the players across the field when the contest ended. With the ball in the middle of the field, Mohr, of the Preps, shot through right tackle on a quarterback run, and after gaining eight yards, was tackled by Captain Phelan. The instant the ball was brought to a stop, Referee Abbottoic blew his whistle and Phelan released his grip. The Prep was dragged loose from the pile, sprinted down the field and planted the ball behind the goal posts.

Crowd After Referee.

As the whistle had blown, the referee, a Georgetown man and himself a former Prep player, insisted that the ball be brought back. This the Preps refused to do and the Georgetown supporters in the stands rushed down and, surrounding the official, protested against the decision, claiming that the ball was not stopped when the whistle blew.

By this time it had become so dark that it would have been practically impossible to tell which player had the ball, so the Westerners insisted upon their rights that under the rules any delay arising from any cause whatsoever, lasting more than two minutes, shall be punished by a forfeiture of the game.

For ten minutes Western waited while the crowd was after the referee and finally, claiming its rights under the rules, called its players off the field, leaving the Preps and the crowd arguing with the referee. Even had the Preps brought the ball back when ordered by the referee it is understood that Western would have raised a protest, claiming that on the quarterback run the player with the ball had not gone five yards outside of center.

Teams in Poor Shape.

Aside from the unsatisfactory ending the game was somewhat of a disappointment. Neither of the teams seemed to be in good condition and there were seldom three consecutive downs without time being taken out for some trifling injury to some one of the players. The Preps played a surprisingly strong game, and during practically the whole contest had the ball in Western's territory. Using a tackle back formation, which was driven into the high school line, the Blue and Gray youngsters gained ground steadily, and several times seemed likely to score when they were held. One of the three backs usually carried the ball and when Western braced in the line to meet the tackle the Preps sprang a quarterback run.

Western Handicapped.

In justice to Western, it must be said that its champion team was in no shape for the game. After the Central game two weeks ago the Red and White squad broke training and not once since that time has the eleven been intact in practice. In yesterday's game Worthington, the tackle whose clever punting was a big factor in winning the championship of the series and Muir, the all high school quarterback, were out of the game on account of sickness. The Thomas B. fullback, who was kept on the sidelines because of slight injuries. But whenever the Preps became dangerous, Western braced nicely and holding for downs succeeded in finishing its season without having its goal line crossed.

Recovering the kickoff the Preps steadily gained until they had the ball past midfield. Western held the Preps pinned. Western's first play gained five yards, and on the next try Phelan got past right end for twenty yards. The Preps held and Western braced nicely to punt the kick was blocked. The Preps got their tackle back to work and carried the ball up field, but time was called before any score resulted.

Phelan's Fine Run.

At the beginning of the second half Western started off with a rush, but the Preps soon got the ball. The leather exchanged hands near the middle of the field, but once more the Preps got dangerous by carrying the ball down to Western's 15-yard line, where it was lost on account of down. Finch dropped back and punted to midfield. Captain Phelan, who was Western's star, was down the field before the ball, and when it was fumbled by the Prep back, he caught it on a run and sprinted half the length of the field for the only yardage of the contest. The goal was missed.

With five minutes of the second half remaining, it was getting too dark to play, when the Preps raised the protest which ended the game.

Innovations Will Mark
Benning Fall Meeting

There were gloomy skies for the opening of the Benning fall meeting this afternoon, and the prospects of rain kept the attendance down considerably, but the crowd was such an excellent one that the real dyed in the wool racing enthusiast would not be scared away. The New York crowd which came in by regular and special trains last night, is fully up to the standard of previous fall meetings here.

The Washingtonians are, however, facing a new condition in racing this fall and one which may or may not affect the attendance. The rate of admission has been increased by one-third. Beginning today a ticket of admission to the grandstand for men will cost $2, while ladies will be taxed $1. The old rate was $1.50 for men and $1 for ladies.

This increase is in keeping with the action taken by the racing associations about New York during the summer, to cut away from all affiliations with the bookmakers, which might tend to compromise them at some time, the managers of the tracks about New York have the ring open to all reputable layers without money and without price. In order to make up for the loss of revenue from the books the admission was raised from $2 to $3.

There was the usual kicking over the advance at first, but it has all been forgotten long ago. The attendance at the New condition in racing this fall was considerably in excess of that of one year ago, and there is never a word heard about exorbitant tariff. It remains to be seen if the scheme will work so well at Benning.

Another new feature will be the opening of the field stand. The field stand has always been free, but there were no accommodations for those who elect to see the races from this point. The rate to the field has been fixed at $1. It is not likely, however, that there will be any great rush for the $1 tickets, as the stand is not only badly placed, but is without a roof and its occupants will be unprotected in time of bad weather.

Another innovation at Benning is the segregation of the riders. No longer will the silk jacketed young men be allowed the freedom of the paddock. No longer will they be permitted to hobnob with the public and talk freely with heavyweights and jockeys. Riders will report to the clerk of the scales their mounts for the day, and after they enter the weighing room will not be permitted to leave again, except to ride, until they are through for the day.

In order that no hardship may come to the riders in the way of being deprived of witnessing the racing, a gallery has been built especially for them adjoining the paddock end of the club house. Entrance to it is from the jockeys' room only and will be allowed there except riders and their valets. The easy means of communication between hideout and paddock much invidious comment early in the season, and the powers that be inaugurated the present system of isolation for the riders at Belmont Park. The results have been highly satisfactory.

The meeting promises to be up to the standard at Benning in the number of New York owners who will race here for the first time and the class of the horses is good. Much interest centers in the Dixie and Vestal stakes, long-distance races for three-year-olds, for which the most prominent horses are Klamesha and Santa Catalina. Both have raced into prominence at the late New York meeting, and a meeting between them will prove highly interesting.

CATARRH FIRST A COLD THEN CATARRH THEN CONSUMPTION

A cold in the head is a common ailment, but it rarely ever stops there. It often grows stubborn and protracted, the mucous membranes, or inner lining of the body, become inflamed and secrete a filthy, unhealthy matter which is absorbed by the blood and soon produces that disgusting disease, Catarrh. Then follow the unpleasant symptoms of "hawking and spitting," ringing noises in the ears, headache, poor appetite, mucous drooping back into the throat, and a feeling of general debility. Every day the blood becomes more heavily loaded with these poisonous secretions, and if the trouble is allowed to run on, the lungs become diseased from the constant passage of poisoned blood through them, and then Catarrh terminates in the most dreaded and fatal of all diseases, Consumption. The only way to get rid of Catarrh permanently is to cleanse the blood, and S. S. S. is the ideal remedy for this purpose. It soon clears the system of all impurities, purges the blood of all Catarrhal matter and poisons, and effectually checks the progress of this dangerous and far-reaching disease. S. S. S. keeps the blood in perfect order so that Catarrh cannot remain; and as this pure, healthy body, the entire system is strengthened and invigorated, and the symptoms all pass away. Book with information about Catarrh and medical advice free.

Personal Comment on Affairs in the World of SportFOOTBALL.

There is a lot of even money floating around that Yale will defeat both Princeton and Harvard.

This has been a year of great surprises and turnovers. Wonder if there are any more coming?

Captain Russ, of Brown, thinks pretty well of Harvard's chances, but it is hard to account for some of his views of the situation. Still, his opinion is worth something.

They are still celebrating over in Philadelphia.

S. H.—The estimated attendance at the Harvard-Penn game at the Stadium last year was 18,000.

When Bill Reid was invited to come East and take charge of Harvard football, he did not guarantee to turn out a winning team the first year. Far from it. He simply said that it was a difficult task to place Harvard where she properly belongs in football, and if he was not successful the first year, he would be willing to try again. Reid is not all in yet, and some of his critics might wisely suspend judgment on his work this year until the Yale game has been played.

The tricky tiger is sharpening his claws.

Billy Knibbs went out to the Pacific coast to teach the University of California some Dartmouth football, but his team was beaten by the combined Stanford eleven. Knibbs will shortly return to Worcester.

The Pennsylvania rule regarding players who have been ruled out of a game for slugging is a dead one.

Dartmouth football was vindicated last Saturday when Andover rolled Exeter all over the lot.

When the football season of 1906 is over Bartol Parker will have a look for a position as center on the All-America team.

Cornell will send her second team to New York next Saturday to meet Columbia. That is one way of rubbing it in.

Nate Stauffer says: "Princeton is the fastest team getting under way that I have seen this year. There may be something doing at New Haven tomorrow."

Teddy Roosevelt, Jr., has gained ten pounds since he joined the Harvard freshman squad.

Society note—Captain Shevlin has been a trifle fine for two or three days, but the clever hand of Trainer John Mack has been seen in his resilient return to form, and he will be in his old, irresistible attack tomorrow.—New Haven Register.

Many Yale rooters are now offering a to 1.

After all the Pennsylvania-Harvard game is only of minor importance, compared with the Harvard-Yale contest.

The Philadelphia Evening Telegraph claims a victory because Lamson was allowed to play for Pennsylvania last Saturday, but says nothing about the reason. Quakers and the Herald knocked out of commission.

Harrison is a great gain to the Harvard varsity. He is more than welcome by the coaches.

The Pennsylvania authorities should build their press stand according to the Harvard plan. It's hard to get a good view of the progress of the ball from the 10-yard line.

If this weather continues the Harvard-Yale game will be a pretty lively affair.

RACING.

William Duke, trainer in France for W. K. Vanderbilt, and the American rider Ransch, jockey for the Vanderbilt stable, were visitors at the Aqueduct race track yesterday. Trainer Duke hurried back to New York after one day spent at his home in Wellsville, N. Y., to see one day of American racing before the end of the season.

Jockey's Romanelli and Miller each rode two winners at the Aqueduct track yesterday, his day's record putting Miller at the head of the list of winning jockeys for the meeting. Romanelli had the place of greater prominence yesterday, as he rode the two longest chance winners of the day—Battleaxe, at 15 to 1, and Consideration, at 10 to 1.

Jockey Schaffner will leave for Los Angeles immediately.

W. O. Souly will try to win his new purchase, Copper, out at the Benning meeting.

The biggest single shipment of horses made so far this fall from New York went out yesterday, bound for the winter tracks at New Orleans. The train was made up of seventeen cars loaded with race horses and two sleeping cars for the owners and trainers. A small army of attendants went with 30 horses that filled the cars.

Sidney Lucas, the American Derby winner of 1904, will be sold at auction at the coming Lexington sales.

Jockey Fred Taral, a visitor to the Aqueduct track yesterday, stated that he finished the racing season in Austria and Hungary at the head of the list of winning riders, with seventy-two successful mounts. Until the last day of the Austria racing year Taral and many sales of Franklin cars are reported by the Decauville Automobile Company, about twenty having been disposed of during the past week. There has also been a number of sales of high-power Decauville, several of the cars to be exhibited in the New York show having been ordered.
